When you click on that link you get a 404 error: HTTP 404. The resource identified by this request is only capable of generating responses with characteristics not acceptable according to the request "accept" headers. It is easy to reproduce. Just use the wrong URL for the image. It works fine when you use the correct URL. The image is in and the right URL is The difference is the first index is one character larger. A: A while ago I was working on an internal tool to generate static html pages from a SQL Server database and decided to have a quick play with the markup language itself. The page with the wrong url appeared to be invalid html. I thought that was wrong but I can't remember why I removed it. It appears this particular file has now been regenerated and the url has been fixed. Q: Statistical significance when certain quantities are compared in a study I have been given data in the following format. sampleId group e1 e2 e3 e4 e5 1 0 12 27 18 18 45 1 1 25 18 30 32 29 1 2 13 39 16 37 25 1 3 33 17 42 46 37 2
