This study is found to be useful for scholars who want to do political economy research on corruption and political conflict in indonesia, for example political corruption, unemployment, inflation, financial sector stability, foreign debt, household income, interest rate fluctuations and business loan and so. The corruption in Indonesia and foreign study shows that corruption in Indonesia is likely to be influenced by corruption in foreign economies. Corruption is also likely to be caused by the political and economic factors that influence its development. The corruption in Indonesia is different from corruption in other countries as the foreign study also shows that there is an increase in the corruption in Indonesia since 2000 as compared with 1990 and it is also associated with a country's financial development. In addition, the corruption in Indonesia. also tends to increase when there is an increase in the foreign debt. Indonesia Corruption Study.pdf download Indonesia Corruption.
